

Attention Builders, Developers and Residents

Rubbish Disposal During Construction

A container to properly dispose of debris and other discarded building materials must be provided on all properties where construction is underway. This ordinance went into effect August 23, 1990.

Building Inspectors and Community Service Officers regularly verify that each site has an appropriate container or enclosure and is free of scattered debris.

Containers or enclosures must be provided at the start of construction and they must remain on the site until final inspection approval. Requested inspections will not be performed on properties where containers or enclosures have not been provided. Failure to provide a suitable container or enclosure is a violation of the Plymouth City Code and Plymouth Community Service Officers will issue citations.

We appreciate your help in keeping construction sites and the surrounding areas free from construction debris.
